

AIR PLANT CITY

Tillandsia – Stricta

I have found that the Stricta is pretty delicate and I noticed that they require more water as noticeable when the leaves start to curl. Also you really need to dry them before putting them back into any container. If they stay wet too long, they fall apart. Remember caring for airplants is a learning process so if you fail a few times don't get discouraged. Your plants will tell you if they are thirsty by their appearance. What they won't tell you is if they get TOO much water so don't over do.
